A speeding car hits a young woman, causing traumatic brain injury. Traditional treatments offer little hope. Dr. Cox and his team quickly administer the patient’s own stem cells – minimizing brain damage and accelerating recovery. That’s one of the many ways our community of experts is solving the greatest health challenges of our time.