Dr. Jiajie Zhang uses big data to revolutionize patient safety

Health care requires complex decisions that are, literally, life and death. What if doctors had real-time guidance based on millions of patient outcomes? Enter big data.

Dr. Zhang and his team analyze massive data sets to develop better treatments, advance disease prevention and improve patient safety.

Sometimes the health care system needs healing, too. So our community of experts works tirelessly to solve the greatest health challenges of our time.