Resources for Living

Building inner strength
No one is born with resilience. It’s something you have to learn and practice. These tips can help.
Read more. | En Español.

Mental health awareness during COVID-19
COVID-19 has caused an increase in stress, anxiety and depression. The more you know, the more you can help yourself and others nurture emotional wellbeing.
Read more. | En Español.

Online peer support group sessions for women
Women 18 and over are invited to join a free Here 4 U online peer support group session between May 17-21, 2021.
Register now

Press Pause: The power of breath
Learn simple breathing techniques to help bring focus, energy and balance.
These tips can help. | Read the transcript.

Survey: Share your resilience
2020 and 2021 have been all about resilience. You’re most likely faced challenges before and found healthy ways to cope.
We want to know: What’s one of the hardest things you’ve ever done? How did you get through it? We’ll publish a sample of reader responses in next month’s newsletter. Note: Your response is anonymous. If you can use support with a challenge, we encourage you to call us.
We’re here for you 24/7.

Getting help
For help with personal or workplace issues, call your access phone number or check your website. These confidential services are available 24/7 to you, your eligible household members and adult children living away from home up to age 26.

This information was brought to you by Resources For Living. If you would like to speak to one of our consultants about this information, or feel you are in need of immediate assistance, please call your access phone number. Our telephonic assistance is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year.
All calls are confidential, except as required by law. This material is for informational purposes only. Information is believed to be accurate as of the production date; however, it is subject to change.

©2021 Resources For Living
4437.3001-091-020 (9/21)